

Suspended Operations

POLICY

In accordance with state regulations, the Washington State University President or designee may suspend the operation of all or any part of the institution whenever the President or designee determines that public health, property, or safety is jeopardized due to an emergency. (WAC 357-31-260)

Delegation

The President provides written delegation of authority to designees to suspend University operations. Copies of the written delegations of authority to suspend operations are maintained in the Human Resources Services office at WSU Pullman.

Typical Designees

Typical designees include, but are not limited to, chancellors of non-Pullman campuses, directors of research and extension stations, and the WSU Extension Director.

Inclement Weather Procedures Development

An inclement weather event may require the University to suspend some or all operations at the Pullman or non-Pullman campuses, the research and extension stations, or the county extension offices.

Each chancellor of a non-Pullman campus is responsible for developing policies and procedures for their respective campus. Each research and extension station director is responsible for developing policies and procedures for their respective station. The WSU Extension Director or designee is responsible for developing policies and procedures for county extension offices.

See the following sections for inclement weather procedures applicable to:

- WSU Spokane (BPPM 50.42)

EMERGENCY NOTIFICATIONS

In times of crisis or when critical information must be shared, the University provides emergency information and guidance to WSU personnel and students. Based upon the nature of a given event, the University may use one or more of the methods described below:

- Authorized users activate the WSU System to provide direct emergency notification to students, faculty, and staff through land line and cellular telephone using voice and text messaging and e-mail. In order to receive notifications, WSU personnel and students must register their telephone numbers and e-mail addresses through the myWSU portal.

Select links in the Campus Emergency Information area to view emergency information and/or directions, as applicable.
